

...and Kyroot said:

To those in power, energetic thought appears as a form of intellectual felony.

...and Kyroot said:

Can you believe that anything is actually "scared" until it is so named?

...and Kyroot said:

In each of the Few resides a Christian, Buddhist, Jew and Muslim; likewise a socialist, communist & republican, as well as the dominate, submissive, powerful and helpless.

We,
my friends,
are it.

...and Kyroot said:

Even wisdom put to writ

is prone to become mere English Lit.

...and Kyroot said:

No authority can be even temporarily infaliable, save one's own understanding.

...and Kyroot said:

In a peculiar way, the closest I ever saw to a natural, 3-eyed mortal was one who continually proclaimed,

"I don't care
who you are,
or what you believe,

I thoroughly disagree
with you."

...and Kyroot said:

Quick, what two things do Real Revolutionists dread most? — Peace & quiet.

...and Kyroot said:

If you don't believe the dead can be amused by legerdemain then you don't believe in history.

...and Kyroot said:

The Real Revolutionist might look upon a word processor as a machine gun,
and his own mind as hand-to-hand combat.

...and Kyroot said:

What is the real difference between history and memory?

What is the real connection between daylight and soap operas?, bullets and irritability?

You know,
sometimes
I even amuse and confuse myself.

...and Kyroot said:

Sex seems to be the one adventure open to even the timid and claustrophobic.

...and Kyroot said:

To a Real Revolutionist, there is no such thing as a "small" skirmish.

For the Few there is no such creature as a useless effort.

...and Kyroot said:

There must be at least two thousand six hundred and ninty-seven proverbs that speak of, "That small, thin line twix genuis and madness..." and I say,
"What thin line?"

...and Kyroot said:

You know,
you might have something after all if your knowledge was as direct and causal as the movements of a dog.

...and Kyroot said:

I've noticed that the question of morality seldom arises except when Men begin to speak of their enemies.

...and Kyroot said:

THAT'S RIGHT — go ahead — think it !

Say it!

Just ruin for everybody else.

...and Kyroot said:

Only an absolute dictator can absolutely guarantee freedom and happiness,
(and then, of course, only for himself, of course, of course,,,)But who would have it any other way?

Who COULD!)

...and Kyroot said:

Being human corrupts, and being absolutely human absolutely... well, you know the rest.

...and Kyroot said:

Ordinary religion can certainly seem sweet to baby brains & minor minds.

The sugar-stained Revolutionist prefers the ones tart, and with hard centers.

...and Kyroot said:

Let's wrestle at least one thing firmly to the mat, and grapple it into a submission conclusion.

O.K., here's an example:

If there is such a thing as "meaningful" literature it would have to be the writings of a madman, assuming there is such a thing as a "madman", and "writings", and assuming there is such a thing as "such", and "thing", and assuming there is such a thing as "assuming", and...

well,
you get the picture.

Now count that sucker
out.

...and Kyroot said:

Being ugly shouldn't be a crime;

being dumb should be no sin,

but being DULL
should be grounds
for cosmic
excommunication.

...and Kyroot said:

Rigid mind,

loose tongue.

...and Kyroot said:

A revolutionary dog would not only no longer bark, but would not growl, as well.

...and Kyroot said:

In Man's dreams of supremacy over his matreial world he has said,

"It is possible to fly without motors.",

which may be true,

but

"You can't land without wheels."

(I'm not quite sure what it means myself.)

...and Kyroot said:

If ignorance is not bliss, at least it's ignorance.

...and Kyroot said:

Are we to accept that human standards and expectations are no more than an "absolute demand for mediocrity".

That's sure no way to run a revolution.

...and Kyroot said:

You are not really wise until no form of ignorance vexess.

Stupidity must mean nothing
to you;
it is all as natural and uneventful
as daybreak.

...and Kyroot said:

From amidst the hue, and cry, and horror of a pitched battle, I heard arise from the prevailing side, a voice, and it cried, "Another triumphant success like this and I'm a dead man."

...and Kyroot said:

I believe it can now be scientifically shown that fear is of a larger caliber than bullets.

...and Kyroot said:

Which would be the harder to find, a Man who has never tried to change, or one who tried only once?

- p. 2 - "scared" should be "sacred"
p. 3 "dominate" " " "dominant"
p. 5 "infalible" should be "infallible"
p. 8 insert comma, after legerdemain
p. 10 "aperas" should be "operas"
p. 13 "genvis" should be "genius"
"twix" should be "twixt"
p. 14 "Causal" should be "casual"
p. 16 insert "it" after "ruin."
p. 20 "submission" should be "submissive"
p. 24 "matreial" should be "material"
p. 26 "mediocricy" should be "mediocrity"
p. 27 "vexess" should be "vexes"

7/23/87 Kyroot Typos

---

