Only those phlegmatic playwrights must lean on a plot.

A day - nay, a life without a plot is like an eternal third down.

Hell is filled with other people's whining...no its not, that's a joke, its filled with yours. No its not, that's the REAL joke, of course cause everybody else's is SO much worse than yours...right?, and that's no joke.

They recently found a Man staggering around the bushy perimeter, gripping His temples and loudly moaning, "Wow, Oh wow, me thinks I thought too much all at once."

The bigger the problem the smaller the Man

O.k., Beta Variation: The bigger the problem
the smaller
the intelligence.

Oh, alright, Variation Gamma:
Hey, they ain't no
third version.
