

...and Kyroot said:

People will find most anything, once finished and done with, acceptable.

...and Kyroot said:

Never seek revenge in the rain.

...and Kyroot said:

A well-paid City uncle told his little nephewite, "Kid, if you got a hero you ain't got a chance."

...and Kyroot said:

Question: What is Man's most popular art form?

Answer: Talk.

Why?

Cause the materials are so cheap.

...and Kyroot said:

One guy, in the throes of impending death, cried out, "O.k., Life, but if I gotta go I'm gonna take a piece of you
with me."

...and Kyroot said:

Those who don't know the joke keep laughing in the wrong places.

(How grunt-line gauche.)

...and Kyroot said:

As He departed, one guy shouted back over His shoulder, "Call me when you got sit-ups for the brain."

...and Kyroot said:

If you take what's going on now seriously you ain't gonna believe what's coming up.

...and Kyroot said:

Conversation Number Eight: "How'd you stop?"

"I just quit."

"Naw, I mean really?"

...and Kyroot said:

Conversation Number Eight and A Half: "How'd you do it?"

"I just did it."

"Naw, I mean REALLY really?"

...and Kyroot said:

In pondering the limits of the ephemeral, and historical, consider the hobby of collecting antique ice cream.

...and Kyroot said:

After a distinctly disappointing episode, one City gentleman declared,
"If I could do one thing over again it would be EVERY thing."

...and Kyroot said:

A defensive Revolutionist is a sick Revolutionist.

...and Kyroot said:

One promising lad received the following advice, "The most efficient way to do better is to do better."

...and Kyroot said:

As you tripsy along, never forget this song, "Down the road a piece,
Oh ,down the road a piece,
Down the road a piece,
Is another road."

...and Kyroot said:

Anyone who can be snubbed should be.

...and Kyroot said:

One Man described typical City life to His young son thusly, "Its a place where a bartender still expect a tip even should
His dear mother belly up to the bar for a short one.
That's the City."

...and Kyroot said:

That what needs validation ain't correct.

...and Kyroot said:

One City fashion plate, (if not, cup & saucer), declared at the party,
"All I seek is a guru
more impassioned than
me, but dumber."

...and Kyroot said:

A ruler fixed is a ruler nixed, and
A neutered king will never sing.

...and Kyroot said:

A GOOD Revolutionist should be able to put fate on hold.