

...and Kyroot said:

A Revolutionist doesn't owe, but IS owed.

...and Kyroot said:

In ordinary warfare, no news from the front is considered ominous while with a Revolutionist the vice might be versied.

...and Kyroot said:

All curses sound much better said in Italian, and said to someone else.

...and Kyroot said:

It is my duty to remind you that all problems are caused by someone trying to help, and all complications arise from someone's attempt to simplify.

...and Kyroot said:

No matter what steps, and turns are seen in professional settings,
in everyday conditions remember
the following:

Between all dancers,
This much is true,
They always perform,
The folie a deux.

...and Kyroot said:

I am disturbed by the similarity of the words, "words", and "turds".

...and Kyroot said:

"I must admit", admitted a Philosophy professor, after being knocked down for a second time by a speeding didactic, "I've never heard the phrase, 'The unexamined life is not worth living.' uttered by anyone clearly living the unexamined life."

...and Kyroot said:

If the truth ain't evolving it's probably one of those cheap, foreign counterfeits.

...and Kyroot said:

Conversation Red Alert-37: "We ain't got much."

"We ain't got much, but we got each other."

"S'like I said, we ain't got much."

...and Kyroot said:

Many of you would do well to adopt my more commercial approach, thusly:
While you're alive, everything that happens to you is just the cost of doing business.

...and Kyroot said:

There's this guy in midtown Antwerp who sez he can come over to your place regarding all that stuff that needs to be done.

...and Kyroot said:

I sit alone in my lonely room,
My blood running colder with each tick of my forlorn clock,
I gaze out of my dim window onto the dreary landscape and think,
Jeeze, I'm having someone ELSE'S poem.

(It is held by some that Elizabeth Barrett Browning believed she was really Tina Turner trapped in a shoddy nineteenth century body.)

...and Kyroot said:

Why put all your eggs in a basket?

...and Kyroot said:

A young boy went to an attorney with a problem, and after mentioning one possible approach he believed pertinent to his cause, the attorney injected, "Now that's hard to prove.", and when he noted an alternative argument he's told again, "That also is hard to prove.", and a bit later is informed again that, "That too is hard to prove.", and the lad sez, "So, mister lawyer man, it's ALL hard to prove?", is that it?"

"Yeah kid, that's about the size of it."

...and Kyroot said:

After being roundly rebuked, one City chap shouted back to his attackers,
"At least a horse's ass doesn't have to look at itself." No one seems to have known just what he meant.

...and Kyroot said:

"Only the pedantic survive.", said He. "Or", added His partner, "So it seems."

...and Kyroot said:

Limited intelligence makes the Ice Age seem like a commercial-length run-to-the-bathroom.

...and Kyroot said:

If it weren't for brackets, parenthesis would have no fall-back position.

...and Kyroot said:

Do understand: The dangerously dumb are those who never even suspect they are.

...and Kyroot said:

A Real Revolutionist can see even when there's nothing to see.