Being quiet is no sure sign you're not talking...

(with a Real Revolutionist,
however, they should be
one in the same.)

Life has everyone "down pat."

(It is distinctly difficult for Man to put enough english on this shot to make it back up at all, never mind reversing.)

And now for the refried, relined jackpot, answer as soon as you can this question: Can a thing "simply described" be simply done?

(Oh, o.k., a second chance: Do job descriptions contribute to the creation of jobs?)

While you're waiting for your next train to arrive its all quite simple:
Either don't do those things you think you shouldn't, or don't think shouldn't.

The taking-of-opinons, and the taking-of-cities are not totally unalike, except with one there is less looting and raping.

Those in the old-world who say, "Use it or lose it." will use yours if you let 'em.

(I told you Life was on an efficiency kick.)
