

4/28/89-(1)

...and Kyroot said:

. 4/28/89-(2)

...and Kyroot said:

A lot of things should be done as though you're waiting on a bus.

...and Kyroot said:

Some places are stranger than they look, and some places look stranger than they are, but no place is stranger than it is.

...and Kyroot said:

If you're exhausted, or injured, take a break...(if you live on this planet you may also do so.)

...and Kyroot said:

There's less extra room in a shoe than most people think.

, 4/28/89-(6)

...and Kyroot said:

Anything you do outside your own house is theatre.

...and Kyroot said:

Things don't actually need a premise, everyone brings their own.

4/28/89-(8)

...and Kyroot said:

Thoughts come in all sizes.

...and Kyroot said:

I heard of this other area where the creatures supposedly get stomping-mad over the difference between being mis-lead, and mis-guided.

...and Kyroot said:

Every universe only needs a small number of creatures to do a certain thing.

...and Kyroot said:

In some regions we're all working on consignment.

...and Kyroot said:

One guy offered his brain as the site for the Winter Olympics.

...and Kyroot said:

On some planets all progeny wanna be just like their parents - but what choice do they have?

...and Kyroot said:

No matter where you are, fresh data is available both coming and going.

...and Kyroot said:

In some quarters velocity questions cannot be answered by inertias.

...and Kyroot said:

A fanatic is only kin to himself.

...and Kyroot said:

...after a pause, the Universe replied, "Come back later."

...and Kyroot said:

On this other world a guy was petty, mean, intolerant, and self-centered, and no one ever
mentioned it...

(assuming it ever got noticed over there.)

...and Kyroot said:

Every constellation yet congealed has its powerful, and powerless.

...and Kyroot said:

In an enriched universe, nothing's the start of everything else.