

...and Kyroot said:

For all you news junkies, and info fans, don't get all concerned over the questions of "inaccurate items", "unsubstantiated stories", and "unconfirmed reports", after all, the human intellect RUNS on rumor.

...and Kyroot said:

If all you have is a "one life time view' then one life time won't be enough.

...and Kyroot said:

"Remember son, eat everything on your plate - including the plate."

...and Kyroot said:

All political, social and economic theories are worthless - and you can really forget those that can be proven.

...and Kyroot said:

If you like, I can fairly wrap up the earlier speaker's comments for those of you who arrived late; He seemed to imply that within the realm of strictly human affairs it always comes down to a skirmish of "reason vs a hopeburger."

...and Kyroot said:

Over on a certain planet the cry of one young group was, "If we can't change the world at least we can change ourselves, and if we can't change ourselves at least we can change the world."

...(I must look back in on them one day.)

...and Kyroot said:

Inscription on a public building of an obscure civilization as yet to be rediscovered, it reads,
"Would there be the need for us to, 'Pull Ourselves Together', were we not constructed to fly apart?"

...(Perhaps, "rediscover" is too kind a word...perhaps.)

...and Kyroot said:

Believe It Or Not, See It Or Don't, it's still staring at you from right over the hill -
All of life is a matter of conflicting,
common interests.

...and Kyroot said:

An author with a typewriter in his bathroom may be considered a serious threat.

...and Kyroot said:

"Whoa, don't say that."

"Don't say what?"

"I thought you were going to say that everything's
a fait accompli."

"Whoa, then I won't say that."

"Whoa - Phew!"

...and Kyroot said:

Don't look off while loading. .

...and Kyroot said:

On this one planet they have an alternate genesis myth that says everything was created simultaneously, and after that each part merely discovers, rediscovers, and expands its discovery of every other part.

...and Kyroot said:

We're all being held responsible...and this, within the framework,
and outside the framework of man not actually being so.

...and Kyroot said:

Over in the park this one rather lengthy chap ignored the soap boxes,
and benches, and climbed directly into a fashionable elm and cried out, "So long as the word 'ambiguous' is open to interpretation
we're all in-for-it."

...and Kyroot said:

Whilst out surveying history and other wild creatures with his charge, a father said, "Son, ponder and remember this; If the Siege Of Troy had not have actually occurred men would have had to invent it.", (reply), "But Pa Pa, tis fairly well accepted now that it twas mere fantasy.", (confident sire says), "See!"

...and Kyroot said:

A "Fable For Someone Else's Time"; A whale sighed, "It's hard to be humble when you're the largest thing in the sea.", and the waters replied, "Ho-hum."

...and Kyroot said:

An unpublished pharmacist I met at a recent soiree told me that his overriding concern in life was that his own brain wouldn't take him seriously.

...(I'm not absolutely certain, but I think I heard his frontal lobes go, "Ho-hum")

...and Kyroot said:

A Rule Of Thumb For The One Handed; Only those with symptoms can find a diagnosis.

(Parenthetical Corollary; Only those
with symptoms
DESERVE
a diagnosis.)

...and Kyroot said:

This one fellow says, "Oddly enough, when I'm away from home I feel most like myself.", and oddly enough his near-twin added that, "strangely enough" he almost felt conversely.

...(In the psyche-garment trade I believe this is known as an "odd lot.")

...and Kyroot said:

The future is caused by friction; thus, eliminate competition and be free of tomorrow.