

...and Kyroot said:

Save the search,
I can tell you right now; Someone's fingerprints are on EVERYthing.

...and Kyroot said:

If,

As some poets have

Mused in the Secondary sphere,

"The inability to sin is the Great spur to repentance.",

How could this notion be elsewhere used

If one could somehow "disable" their stupidity.

...and Kyroot said:

Ideas

"user-friendly" to the ordinary are not necessarily a bargain to the Revolutionist.

...and Kyroot said:

Those who seriously profess
That "The best is yet to come.",
Have never even had a taste of it.

...and Kyroot said:

Okay, try it this way: Nothing's the bargain it once was - NOTHING!

...and Kyroot said:

One day,

One kid cornered the ole man

And said,

"Some of my friends think that

You haven't been totally serious

In the advice and stuff you've told me.",

And with a certain sardonism the father replied,

"REALLY?...well, you bring your little friends

Around to see me some year when I'm not doing anything,

And we'll again settle this matter once-and-for-none."

.....(There remain some children,
[Here and there],

Who claim "sardonism"

Should be spelled with

Just one "i"...as always,

They're in the minority.)

...and Kyroot said:

"Words To Live By If You Live In The City", (which is where most people live)"

"Wait, when you say, 'Which is where most people live',

Do you mean, 'in-the-City?', or

'By-words'?" - "Yes, yes, exactly;

And now the words;

'Wearing exotic underwear

Will make you FEEL exotic - (at least as exotic as doing such things can make you feel)'."

Class dismissed.

...and Kyroot said:

Trying to,
"Lay low",
Can keep you low.

...and Kyroot said:

If episodic information
Was carried to its ultimate end
It would no longer be episodic.

...and Kyroot corraled the corollaries;

If snakes would bite off
Their own tails
We'd either have an Increased rodent population,
Or,
Fewer mystical symbols.

...and Kyroot said:

Paying your bills

Is not the same as

Paying your debts.....(Inasmuch

As the latter is Highly improbable.)

...and Kyroot said:

Way up on a top floor,
Deep in the corridors of
Corporate power,
The directors sat, sadly pondering
The slumping sales chart
Til one junior jumped up and exclaimed,
"I've got it! -
Instead of spending the time and money
To produce a new product that would sell better
Let's just change the name of the company!",
And they were all so overjoyed and relieved
That they made him Boredman Of The Chair.

...and Kyroot said:

Out on this other planet things are arranged so that for the first forty-six years of their lives the inhabitants take talk seriously, then for the remainder they don't so much.

...and Kyroot said:

May I assume that some of you
Are now sufficiently well pleased
To be intellectually alive
As to be able to see such things as -
What I mean by the "really obvious"
Is not obvious at all.

...and Kyroot said:

There are some ideas that Life cannot allow to surface without them carrying their own internal, doomsday mechanism.

.....(The more potentially disruptive is the energy
the more it must be primed for self-destruction.)

...and Kyroot said:

One guy says

That the only REAL fun

He's had in life was the

Several times he's died.

...and Kyroot said:

A gent sitting next to me at the coffee counter at the airport mentioned that after having lived a rather routine middle-aged life that he had developed a single reply to any and all questions asked of him, to wit he'd simply say,
"That won't be necessary."

.....(Yeah, I know, I asked him about that, but he still insisted that he always uses that same response no matter
WHAT kind of question it was.....
.....Truth is, the more you think about it the more its rightness begins to glow;
Do you agree?)

...and Kyroot said:

All episodes

Are based on expectations.

...and Kyroot said:

One kid saved a lot of money

After his ole man told him that

Video games were "all in his own mind."

.....(The downside to this was

That the youngster now

Began to wonder whether

This piece of info had any further applications.)

...and Kyroot said:

I continue to hear tales

Of a group of beings over on another world

Who believe that it's only proper to

Be ordinary in your spare time.

...and Kyroot said:

On every, every morning,
This one round dude would
Leap right out of bed,
Whip on his pith helmet,
And grab his riding crap - I mean, crop,
And stand otherwise nude
Before his full length mirror and exclaim,
"O.k. Life - gimmie a problem!"

...and Kyroot said:

One guy says,

"I'm also now the Kinda guy I used to warn me about."

...and Kyroot said:

The mood of the
Flies in the molasses
Is generally that of the molasses.

...and Kyroot said:

Some Psychology Revisited:

One ole sore head,

After reading a popular book

On "Human Behavior",

Announced that he now wanted to

"Get in touch with the child in him.",

And his wife asked,

"So as to be more playful and spontaneous?",

"No", he replied,

"It's just that when I was younger I could drink more."

...and Kyroot said:

It's hard to hold your attention when your attention's holding you.

...and Kyroot said:

No mouth can be Larger than its lips.

.....(Checking their watches
At the depot, the first guy
Asks the second, "Are we still Waiting for words to explain Themselves or not?")

...and Kyroot said:

The best news is Always last - IF You're the last to ask.

...and Kyroot said:

For many and several years

one ole man kept flogging his kid with these words,

"Don't tell me what you thought - tell me what you DID!" ,

'til finally the younger lashed back,

"Don't you think that bit's a bit out dated?", and he shot back,

"Hell, Hector - EVERYthing worthwhile's out dated; Wise-up, pup!"