

...and Kyroot said:

What is wrong with the following sentence?: (quote): "There's nothing Wrong with
This sentence."

...and Kyroot said:

Those who

Remember their childhood

Remember too much.....(And not very well at that).

...and Kyroot said:

One chap said he found he could
"think much better"
when using a Greek name and archaic ideas.

...and Kyroot said:

You can come in

During the middle of a play,

And it won't matter...(unless a human wrote it).

...and Kyroot said:

Beauty

Has no duty.....(And that,
Says Uncle Faraway,
Is the beauty of it,
And why all heros are ugly.)

...and Kyroot said:

Those who write odes of praise about another specific person might consider some of the several over-the-counter drugs available.

...and Kyroot said:

Speaking of heros;
Over in another galaxy
I've heard tell of a
Warrior chieftain so frightening
That he's "dared" his life to end on him.....And thus far
The threat's worked.

...and Kyroot said:

Each man has a daily "Babble Quotient"
which Life generally expects him to fulfill.

...and Kyroot said:

Just beyond space,

And a bit past time

Is a place where they broadcast everybody's thoughts.

...and Kyroot said:

As he left the chapel
After morning vapors - I mean vespers,
This one general straightened his hat,
Tucked in his fat,
Assumed the "thoughtful-military" pose,
And said,
"Better to have but a few honest men
Than a bad hair cut."

...and Kyroot said:

The only profitable, much less inhabitable decisions are unilateral decisions.

...and Kyroot said:

In some quarters of the universe
It is now publicly said
That we owe much to Aldo Cunningham.

...and Kyroot said:

Nouns were invented by men, but in the matter of verbs - Ah, now there we have all the proper ingredients for an old fashioned vicey versey.

...and Kyroot said:

All at the docks
Are not awaiting ships,
(And even some who are Aren't all that excited).

...and Kyroot said:

For the Revolutionist
only unrestricted thinking produces the acceptable form of enthusiasm.

...and Kyroot said:

First guy says,

"You know,

I could've been a Mind Doctor.",

And his friend says,

"Well why didn't you?",

And the first guy says,

"That's weird,

That's what all my patients asked me too."

...and Kyroot said:

Whenever asked "what they thought" this one group would always say they couldn't answer yet since they weren't finished.

...and Kyroot said:

Hey - Heads up,
Who better to tell you
What you need to know
Than those who don't.

...and Kyroot said:

Speech is always saying more than it knows.

...and Kyroot said:

In the middle of the road of life,
(At least as far as he'd come up to now),
This one kid
Stood up tall and loudly announced,
"I ain't walking a mile in NOBODY'S shoes!"

...and Kyroot said:

This one guy

Used to enjoy (as he put it),

"Turning things over in his mind.",

That is,

Until he discovered he'd been using the wrong organ.

...and Kyroot said:

People don't really yearn for things,
but rather for the processes from which they're drawn.

...and Kyroot said:

A king

Who's impressed

Even with himself

Is a sight to behold.....(And a damned lap-full Should he decide to sit on you).

...and Kyroot said:

Adjectives are a stop-gap measure.

...and Kyroot said:

This one planet,
When deemed appropriate,
Used to issue a "Fear Alert"
Until they frightened everyone off
To a neighboring world.

...and Kyroot said:

A man with longish hair
noted in the margins of his hymnal,
"The gods do not forsake the literate;
When man ran out of parentheses
the heavens gave him brackets."

...and Kyroot said:

There is a secret,
Universal 900 number
You can call and Hear anything you want to.

...and Kyroot said:

Only open ended processes - such as thinking - could ever offer the possibility of unconditional pleasure.

...and Kyroot said:

After seeing the Rousing ovation a
Speaker received when he Concluded his comments by declaring,
"Always look on the bright side.",
The son of one ole sore head left thinking,
"Pop was right,
Life's a waste of time."

...and Kyroot said:

One band of merry creatures
over in another zone
probably reveal some of their thinking through the title of their sole handbook which reads, "Reality - The Supreme Irony."

...and Kyroot said:

Example from Philosophy Three-Thirty-Three:

First one holds up his tumbler and declares,

"My glass is half empty.",

The second hoists his and says,

"My glass is half full.",

And a third thinks,

"I'm about half sick of this kinda verbal twaddle."

...and Kyroot said:

I herein,
now relay to you just what was said to me by an economist in the City, said he, "Just because you don't know what you're doing doesn't mean you have to stop what you're doing."

...and Kyroot said:

With his own brand of
Malicious mock astounishment
This one middle aged kid
Slapped his forehead
(The resulting pain being Sufficient to cause him to Make a note not to repeat this act),
And exclaimed,
"Ah hah! - Now I see it,
All of human knowledge was Invented by man.",
(He reached up to slap himself again,
But recalling his lesson
Slapped his partner instead),
"So,
It's all just invented by other men....Hummmm,
But what if there's an alternative....Hummmm."

...and Kyroot said:

There was this one guy
Who spent almost his entire life thinking,
And when I pointed this out to him he said,
"Oh yeah? - about what?"