

...and Kyroot said:

"Remember",
reminded the guy dressed like the captain,
"Just because something's not working
is no reason not to use it."

...and Kyroot said:

Thinking
according to local Electrical Codes
won't mean that your brain CAN'T burn down.

...and Kyroot said:

This one ole guy
used to have such fits
that his advisor finally told him
he should become an advisor.

...and Kyroot said:

The reason the road out of town
seems to get smaller as it reaches the horizon
has nothing to do with the laws of perspective.

...and Kyroot said:

Although I've never mentioned it before,
there's another little planet whereon
in races, the horses run backwards, which is all right since they have to pay off all the losers.

...and Kyroot said:

As an experiment,
(and unbeknownst to his friends)
this one ole man replaced his hearing aid
with a tiny FM receiver
permanently tuned to a Heavy Metal station;
after several years of this arrangement
he told me the word, "experiment" was no longer adequate.

...and Kyroot said:

In a case of
finding-the-right-audience,
this one fellow,
whenever he thought he might be full of shit,
would say,
"Now you might think I'm full of shit..." - and he was correct.

...and Kyroot said:

For some
the worst is in considering the alternative.

...and Kyroot said:

This one chap,
when he would come to the end of a page,
would oftimes turn it.

...(Whatta chap.)

...and Kyroot said:

It's hard to live on the edge when you're full;
if you think there're two ways of taking this you're half right.

...and Kyroot said:

While "waiting for his dream boat to come in"
this one man abruptly and unaccountably began to smell like Herman Melville on a hot day.

...and Kyroot said:

To be funny in the City
you gotta know all the short-cuts,
and then forget what they mean.

...and Kyroot said:

In lieu, I suppose, of an ordinary hobby
this one man instead,
saved all the thoughts he'd ever had.

...and Kyroot said:

One guy confides,

"I don't guess I feel guilty enough to ever be throughly respectable."

...and Kyroot said:

A gentleman in West Somewhere writes to say that although he has purchased a quite expensive, multi-volume encyclopedia of music, and has completely read same several times, he still cannot carry a tune...he demands to "Know what's going on here?"

...and Kyroot said:

The telegram from the booking agent to the traveling troupe read,
"WHEN ADVERTISING THE HIPPO'S ACT IN MOUSEVILLE MIGHT USE DESCRIPTION SUCH AS,
'A SUBTLE AND SAFE PERFORMANCE' STOP.
CAN'T GUARANTEE SUCCESS BUT WORTH A TRY STOP."

...and Kyroot said:

On a certain star
the current wisdom says that the enthusiasm for mental stability has noticeably subsided, while on her sister planet
they hold just the opposite.

...and Kyroot said:

Un-anchored Dialogue: "When it doesn't matter
everybody and his brother's an expert."

"Would you give us an example of the exceptions to this?"

"I don't know of any."

...and Kyroot said:

Then there was this other guy
who used to yell, "OHHH!", even when he wasn't hurt,
just,
he said,
cause he didn't care.

...and Kyroot said:

Another happy viewer writes,

"My brother-in-law's youngest boy says that if you play some of the Kyroot tapes backwards
they make just as much sense."

...and Kyroot said:

Anyone with a "modest request"
ain't got muchofa request.

...and Kyroot said:

On this one world,
a group who called themselves, "Hard-Nosed, Steel-Eyed Spartan-Realists," (but whome [I've asked you not to spell "whom" with an "e"], but who their mothers called Billy, Gustave, and Spanky),
these guys has as their motto:
"Nothing ventured,
Nothing gained,
They've not run
Who've not been lamed."

.....(My personal opinion is that their mothers didn't call them often enough.)

...and Kyroot said:

There is this place
where it is easier to lose weight than
it is to eat ice cream and jellied doughnuts;
trouble is
the place you are now
won't tell you where THIS place is.

...and Kyroot said:

A couple of kings were chatting over their G & T's,
and one noted,

"Taking away the people's weapons won't relieve them of their angers and frustrations.", and the other throne-warmer sucked on his lime slice and replied,
"That may be, but I've discovered that at least taking away the people's weapons will relieve them of their weapons."

...and Kyroot said:

If you're going to see at all in the Revolutionist sense, you've got to look at least a bit
beyond the temporal edge;
such would be a "near 5-D view".

...and Kyroot said:

One afternoon

one ole man offered his kid this parting advice
in hopes that one day he'd part,

"Me lad,

even when times are tough

don't believe that a spider will tell a fly,

'I'm sorry, but I can't afford a parlor'."

...and Kyroot said:

In one universe they called it the, "G.E." - the Great Experience,
and when the marriage broke up,
just so's not to waste the already monogrammed towels
the aggrieved, departing party
began to refer to it as the "Great Expense."

.....(certain relationships when rent prove more productive than any arithmetic progression might suggest.)

...and Kyroot said:

Everyone's best advice
they save for themself.....(sad to say - har har).

...and Kyroot said:

As the people ran from the City
its Institutional Voice cried out after them,
"The truth hurts.", and they all replied - "So does everything else."

...and Kyroot said:

The Commissioner announced to the assembled,

"I regret to tell you, but as long as ten remains larger than nine

there will be those who will take advantage of the numerical system."

...and Kyroot said:

When he heard it said that

"Life requires only lackluster thinking"

this one fellow glanced about - pondered for a moment, then murmured,

"Gads, what an efficient arrangement."

...and Kyroot said:

On another world
they have a sport called,
"Hit Or Miss", and
from this bit of info
if you can figure out what it is you could probably play the game.

...and Kyroot said:

There was another chap who,
as evidence of his independence from,
"The tyrannical grip of spurious culture",
would,
whenever hearing Mozart,
cry out in apparent disdain - "What the hell was that?"

...and Kyroot said:

After hearing one impressive citizen say,

"If you know how rich you are you're not really rich.",

this one guy thought,

"Praise-be-to-Mergatroide

this isn't applicable to intelligence."

...and Kyroot said:

Being able to read between the lines
cuts down on the number of lines normally required.

...and Kyroot said:

One day

one ole man sat and suddenly thought,

"Might I - as the 'Ole Man' - be little more than metaphor for resignation and decay?".....

.....(he awaited the kid's reassuring interjection.....

.....it proved to be an extensive wait.)